

Quality Policy

NBDB is committed to develop the book publishing industry by conducting industry research, creating current and relevant policies, providing capacity-building and local and international trade promotion initiatives, administering awards and incentives, and promoting readership.

To achieve this:

Our management provides directions, creates a work environment that fosters excellence, and ensures competent staff through continuous development.

Our people deliver effective and efficient services with utmost professionalism and integrity to satisfy stakeholders' expectations.

Our organization adheres to legal and statutory requirements.

Our work processes and quality management systems are streamlined and continually improved.
