

Call for Submission of Publisher's Catalogue

Submission Guidelines:

- Publishers should submit a catalogue of their published works/books in editable format, preferably in excel file.
- Photos should be submitted in jpg/png format and should not exceed 3MB each.
- The submitted catalogue should be accompanied by the consent form below.
- Every book/work listed on the catalogue should contain the following details:

Book Cover (in jpg):

Title of Book:

Author(s):

Illustrator (if any):

Publication Date:

Number of Pages:

ISBN:

Citation/Notable Awards:

Price:

Link where to purchase:

Summary/Blurb:

Contact person:

Contact information (email and/or cellphone number):

Consent

I hereby allow the National Book Development Board (NBDB) to share on NBDB's social media pages and website all the information provided above.

Signature Over Printed Name of Authorized Publisher Representative / Date

Sample Interface of catalogues on NBDB website (reference: booksfromnorway.com)

NOVELS

Kjersti Rørgemoen

A Practical Person

2020

NON-FICTION

Laila Madsø

How to be vegan in 28 days

2020

CRIME FICTION

Ørjan N. Karlsson

Blue Storm

2020

FICTION FOR YOUNG ADULTS

Nina Borge

The Rebels

2020

CHILDREN'S FICTION

Arne Svingen

All my Friends are Vampires

2020

GRAPHIC NOVELS AND CARTOONS

Hans Jørgen Sandnes

Into the Deep. Crypto

2020

NOVELS

Linda Gabrielsen

Entré

2020

NON-FICTION FOR CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS

Andreas Tjernshaugen

The Blue Whale - The Incredible Story of the Biggest Animal that has Ever Lived

Kjersti Rorgemoen

A Practical Person

NOVELS

Kolon Forlag 2020

86 Pages

Original title: Et praktisk menneske

ISBN: 9788205527690

 Download product sheet

Liv Indrebø wants a place of her own and to become a practical person. She buys a secluded smallholding so she can work outside and put the old house back into use. At the museum she struggles to believe in the words she has been employed to produce.

A Practical Person is a taut and concise novel about not going to seed in a landscape ripe for conservation. History is kept at a safe distance, but what about life in practice? Can a woman manage to transform chaos into order on her own? And how do you love something that you don't need?

Reviews:

"Rorgemoen is an author who has a sense for the fractures, the paradoxes and the absurdities of life[...] In short, it's a pleasure to read about the messed-up and weird – but all the same recognisable – people she portrays."

- Marta Norheim, NRK

"Even though it's a novel barely ninety pages long, A Practical Person is impressively good at letting people and events epitomise aspects of the Zeitgeist." 5 out of 6 stars

- Gro Jørstad Nilsen, Bergens Tidende

"It's the main character's thoughts and phrasing that make Kjersti Rorgemoen's new book worth reading."

- Bernard Ellefsen, Morgenbladet

"Kjersti Rorgemoen's prose brings together extraordinarily intimate language with a profound gaze at the exterior and interior of the Norwegian landscape and mentality."

- Tom Egil Hverven, Klassekampen

"One of this spring's wittiest and sharpest novels."

- Ellen Sofie Lauritzen, Dagens Næringsliv

Kjersti Rorgemoen

Kjersti Rorgemoen (born 1982) lives in Tvigvyva, Tokke. She made her debut in 2009 with Purkene snudde seg. Former editorial board member of the fanzine Ikke til hjenlån and of Vågant.

Helge Hansen

OTHER TITLES

- Purkene snudde seg. Memorandum, 2009
- Håpet og festen. Novel, 2015
- A Practical Person. Novel, 2020

FOREIGN RIGHTS

foreignrights@gyldendal.no

AWARDS

Natt&Dag's Bergen Award, Book of the Year 2009
Pastor Alfred Andersson-Ryssst's Award 2016
Association of Book Dealers writer's scholarship 2016
Jan Roar Leikvoll's Memorial Award 2016